

'Blinking' premieres tonight in Providence

PROVIDENCE — Choreographer Jamie Jewett's new work "Blinking" will premiere tonight through Saturday night, Oct. 14-16, at the downtown Pell-Chafee Performance Center, 87 Empire St.

The work was inspired by author Malcolm Gladwell's bestseller "Blink" and explores the "fascinating human process of understanding pattern, information and perception."

It will be performed by the multi-media dance company Lostwax as part of the FirstWorks arts festival in the city.

Tickets are $22, $16. (ArtTix.com, 401-621-6123)

